

EQUUSOMA® Student Agreement

September 2023 Revision – PDF Copy for Review

EQUUSOMA® students embark on an in-depth process of personal and professional development when taking part in the EQUUSOMA® program and its related offerings. Similar to other multi-level training programs, we have collected key program information and guidelines into one resource for ease of reference, the EQUUSOMA® Policies Handbook – Student and Practitioner Edition (September 2023 Revision). Since it is not possible to include all policies below, we ask that you review the Handbook prior to completing the present Agreement.

Please check the box next to each section to indicate agreement. (NOTE: This PDF version is provided for reference and review; students complete an electronic version during the registration process).

Terminology:

- "Faculty" refers to full faculty members and faculty in training.
- "Team" refers to individuals who support EQUUSOMA® students in various capacities. The core team includes the founder, office manager, program liaison, and faculty (also referred to as "Administration" for the purposes of this document). Training assistants are also valuable team members. Team members are considered "agents" or "representatives" of the Schlote Psychotherapy Professional Corporation.
- "Event" refers to various offerings related to EQUUSOMA®, including but not limited to Level 1 and Level 2 training components, bonus features, as well as other offerings that are separate from the EQUUSOMA® training program, such as webinars, workshops, master classes, special courses, or other experiences.
- "Student" and "participant" are used interchangeably in this document.

☐ POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

I agree to abide by all EQUUSOMA® and Schlote Psychotherapy Professional Corporation policies, procedures, and guidelines posted on the website at <https://equusoma.com> and included in the most current revision of the Policies Handbook, which are subject to change. I understand that the current version of Policies Handbook replaces previous editions or policies. I understand that this Student Agreement does not list all policies but that I am nonetheless bound by all current program policies. I understand that notice of changes to policies may be communicated via email, the EQUUSOMA® website, and/or via regular public means including social media. I agree that such postings and or email communications shall be sufficient notice of any changes to our policies, procedures, and guidelines. I understand and agree that it is my responsibility to check the website, social media, and/or regular public postings for updates and that I am bound by all current policies, procedures, and guidelines.

☐ EXPENSES AND FEES

Program pricing: I understand that Level 1 registration fees cover the cost of tuition, which includes access to the videos for Theory Modules 1, 2 and 3, attendance at the live online Practice Modules, handouts, certain additional readings (those that are in PDF form), and the bonus features (live monthly Q&As during Theory Module 1, and live monthly Q&As and Demonstrations during Theory Modules 2 and 3). I also understand that Level 2 registration fees cover the cost of tuition, which includes access to the videos for Theory Modules 1 and 2, attendance at the live in-person Practice Modules 1 and 2 (including notepads, pens, and refreshments), handouts, and certain additional readings (those that are in PDF form).

I understand that I am responsible for covering the cost of my personal log hour requirements (personal sessions of Somatic Experiencing®, case consultations, and assignment consultations and review), books that are required reading, travel costs, accommodations, meals, and any other incidental expenses, if applicable.

Service pricing: I understand that faculty members, assistants, and approved providers set their own fees when offering services to students (such as make up time, personal SE™ sessions, and consultations). I understand that some providers must charge tax. I understand that some team members may not currently have space available and there may be a waitlist involved in accessing services that are offered on a sliding scale or that are offered pro bono (without a fee).

PAYMENTS AND REFUNDS

Level 1: I understand that payment is required to hold my spot in the Level 1 training program, and that it is possible to pay for the tuition in instalments, provided that the registration fee is received in full by the stated deadlines. I understand that I can cancel at any time, and that the refunds depend on the date of cancellation:

CANCELLATION BY LEVEL 1 STUDENT
Cancelling before the program begins	Cancelling after the start of Theory Module 1 before Day 1 of Theory Module 2	Cancelling after the start of Theory Module 2 before Day 1 of Theory Module 3	Cancelling after the start of Theory Module 3
100% of what I have paid minus a $100 CAD admin fee	What I paid minus 1/3 of the total Level 1 tuition, minus a $100 CAD admin fee	What I paid minus 2/3 of the total Level 1 tuition, minus a $100 CAD admin fee	No refunds

I understand that if the program administration needs to cancel a Level 1 training component or cohort, the above refund schedule applies without any administration fee. I understand that no refunds are offered in the event that any Level 1 bonus feature is cancelled or rescheduled. I understand that no refunds are offered if a Level 1 live Practice Module is rescheduled to a different date.

Level 2: I understand that payment is required to hold my spot in the Level 2 training program, and that I can pay the tuition in instalments, provided that the registration fee is received in full by the stated deadlines. I understand that I can cancel at any time, and that I will receive 100% of what paid minus a $100 CAD admin fee if I cancel before the Level 2 program begins. I understand that no refunds are possible if I cancel after Level 2, Theory Module 1, Day 1 has started, given that a spot was held for me and that a limited number of students can be accommodated at the Level 2 Practice Modules, and given the higher overhead costs involved at holding events in person at equine venues. I have reviewed the alternative options in the Policies Handbook should this occur.

I understand that if the program Administration needs to cancel or reschedule a Level 2 training component or cohort, a full or pro-rated partial refund may be applied depending on the point in the program where the cancellation occurs. I understand that details about this and other options that I might select instead of a refund are outlined in the Policies Handbook.

All Levels: I understand that the Schlote Psychotherapy Professional Corporation is not liable or responsible for any fees, incurred expenses, or lost wages incurred as a result of my having to reserve time to complete any component of the training program should it be cancelled or rescheduled or should I withdraw from an event or the program as a whole.

POTENTIAL RISKS

I recognize that trainings that focus on the “safe and effective use of self” encourage students to reflect and work on how the material affects them personally regardless of their professional scope of practice. This is to support self-awareness, self-regulation, integration, attunement and embodiment. I understand that the EQUUSOMA® model is as much about “being” as it is about “doing”, and although there are techniques and practical pieces to learn about, my nervous system is the main tool that will be emphasized.

I understand that events that have trauma and equines as a focus are not risk free. I understand that the subjects covered in the program may be deeply personal and that the same elements that contribute to the unique character and enhance the learning potential and benefits of such experiences can also lead to possible challenges, some of which are described below.

Group-Based Experiential Learning

- Many students are drawn to and attend the EQUUSOMA® program as a result of trauma (whether equine-related or not), insecure attachment, relational ruptures, social anxiety, fear of abandonment / rejection sensitivity dysphoria, neurodivergence and/or being part of any other marginalized group, discrimination, coercive control by individuals with more power, etc. Certain aspects of the program may be more challenging as a result, though the program also supports the development of relevant skills and capacity that may help students navigate challenges that may arise.
- Experiential learning involves group activities and varying degrees of social engagement, which may involve disclosures about peoples’ and animals’ experiences (even if contained); learning about unconscious patterns; participation-based vulnerability (e.g., during demonstrations, practice rounds, and discussions); unresolved shame, guilt, or feelings of inadequacy that might emerge; interpersonal dynamics and re-enactments with other students, team members, and animals; spontaneously remembering past experiences, etc.
- Groups have individuals with varying needs and capacities, which can sometimes conflict with one another. While we aim to apply trauma-informed principles, attune, titrate, and customize the experience as much as possible in relation to what is coming up, doing so perfectly for each individual nervous system is impossible.
- Mistakes can occur when practicing concepts or techniques, which is a normal part of any learning curve. Students are encouraged to make use of the required consultation hours to continue to support their learning, as well as to complete the personal sessions, assigned readings, and other requirements in order to help integrate the material.
- Faculty members, assistants, and approved providers bring different skill sets and development to their practices. As part of their ongoing development, they also consult with professionals and obtain additional training as required.
- Research and anecdotal evidence indicate that chronic stress and trauma can have an impact on a developing foetus and can trigger or exacerbate complex health symptoms, if left unaddressed. Also, a person's resilience can sometimes be diminished as a result of adversity, serious health issues, or the physical and emotional effort of pregnancy, resulting in greater vulnerability or a reduced capacity to explore the complex topic of trauma without feeling overwhelmed. The opposite may also be true, where attending such a training may result in learning skills that help reduce such impacts and support resilience. If you have significant unresolved trauma, are currently facing a crisis, are pregnant, or have other serious health conditions, we encourage you to discuss the training with a qualified health care provider prior to confirming or postponing your involvement.

Farm Settings, Animals, and Livestock

- Equines are powerful animals that may jump, run, buck, kick, bite, nip, or step on people or things, resulting in destruction of property, physical injury, permanent disability, or death. Care and awareness must be exercised around livestock, pets, and wildlife.
- Equipment may fail and weather or terrain conditions can change, which can be dangerous.
- In-person EQUUSOMA® events are usually held in rural locations. If injuries or illness occur it may be a considerable distance to doctors, hospitals, or any other type of assistance.
- Appropriate protective footwear (sturdy, closed-toed shoes or boots; fashion footwear and open-toed sandals are not permitted when interacting with equines inside the fence) and clothing are required.

Communicable Diseases

- In-person EQUUSOMA® events with animals may expose people to communicable diseases, including zoonotic diseases, especially if these events are held at an international location that has particular risks for infection (which may require travel vaccinations).
- As of the latest update of this agreement, the majority of the preventative measures and restrictions to reduce the risk of infection during the COVID-19 pandemic have been loosened or terminated. Anyone attending EQUUSOMA® events will follow any new mandatory directives for standard precautions, personal safety, and public safety (including exposure and self-isolation protocols) that health authorities might implement between now and the end of any event. The program's format and requirements for completion may need to be adapted or an event might need to be postponed or rescheduled if any new directives or restrictions are implemented by health authorities.
- At EQUUSOMA® events, masks are currently not required but anyone who wishes to wear one may do so. Physical distancing is encouraged, but may at times be difficult to implement fully due to the nature of these events. We will engage in appropriate cleaning and/or sanitizing of frequently touched areas and objects. However, we cannot guarantee that anyone will not contract COVID-19 or other communicable or zoonotic diseases.

I agree that I will not attend an in-person event if I have either had a positive COVID-19 test result or any of the following symptoms of illness (fever, chills, shortness of breath, sore throat, difficulty breathing, or coughing) in the week prior to the start of the event. If any of these occur, I agree that I will only attend if I have a doctor's note confirming my recovery, a negative test result, or the recommended quarantine period has passed. If any such symptoms arise or if I test positive for COVID-19 during an in-person event, I will advise the teaching team and immediately self-isolate. I understand that my ability to continue to participate in the in-person event even with accommodation is not a guarantee, depends on a number of variables, and is evaluated on a case-by-case basis.

If I agree to participate in a demonstration, during experiential practice rounds in any capacity, in discussions, or in the program as a whole, I am doing so voluntarily and at my own risk. I will not hold Sarah Schlote and the Schlote Psychotherapy Professional Corporation and their related parties liable or responsible for injury or damage from my participation or involvement in any aspect of the program, and I accept that any result or no result may occur due to my participation or involvement.

I understand that potential harm may result from the actions, omissions, or negligence of others (human or equine) and/or myself. I confirm that I have read and considered the above risks and I freely and voluntarily assume any such risks as set out above, or any other risks which may not be presently known.

WAIVER AND INDEMNIFICATION

I will at all times indemnify and hold harmless Sarah Schlote and the Schlote Psychotherapy Professional Corporation and their officers, directors, agents, successors, and assigns (including facility owners and owners of participating equines) (collectively referred to as the “Releasees”) from and against any and all claims, actions, damages, costs, and expenses (including reasonable lawyers’ fees) related to my acts or omissions in providing services using EQUUSOMA® as a student or in a professional capacity.

I agree to forever indemnify, release and hold harmless the Releasees from all claims, demands, causes of action, damages, losses, injuries, and expenses arising out of or resulting from my participation in the EQUUSOMA® program/events. I further agree to release, acquit and covenant not to claim against the Releasees for all actions, causes of actions, damages, or damages in law including negligence, or remedies in equity of whatever kind. I hereby waive any and all rights I may now or ever have to make any such claims. I hereby agree that if the Releasee is forced to defend any action, lawsuit or litigation initiated by me, my agents, successors, assigns or my executors or heirs whether on their own behalf or on my behalf, I agree to pay all associated legal fees, disbursements and costs on a full-indemnity basis.

SUMMARY

I confirm that this agreement is the only agreement between me and the Schlote Psychotherapy Professional Corporation regarding my participation in EQUUSOMA® events as a student and use of EQUUSOMA® outside of the context of said events, and that this agreement supersedes any other similar agreement, and cannot be modified except in writing by the Schlote Psychotherapy Professional Corporation. This agreement is binding upon me and my heirs, executors, administrators, and legal representatives. This agreement is governed by the laws of the Province of Ontario (Canada) and any dispute arising from this agreement or my relationship with the Schlote Psychotherapy Professional Corporation shall be submitted to binding arbitration in the Province of Ontario. Any resulting decision may be entered and issued in a court of competent jurisdiction.

I confirm that I am fully capable of participating in activities involving humans and equines. I have read the above statement on some of the possible risks and feel that the possible benefits to myself are greater than the risks assumed. I also understand that no amount of caution, experience or instruction can eliminate all of the emotional and physical risks of participating in the program. I freely accept and fully assume all such risks.

I agree to be responsible managing my own safety and for voicing my needs and concerns in a timely manner. This in turn helps the team to support containment and regulation for the group and to more effectively address and navigate whatever might arise. I will inform the team of any limits with respect to my ability to safely engage in the event or specific activities, known to or reasonably foreseen by me, so that the team can support me to the best of their abilities.

I acknowledge that the Schlote Psychotherapy Professional Corporation reserves the right to approve or deny any application to be a student, EQUUSOMA® Practitioner, assistant, approved provider, or faculty member, and may revoke approval at any time, and approve or deny the participation of any person at any event, in its sole and unfettered discretion, with or without cause, and in accordance with its policies and/or the law. I acknowledge and agree that any revocation of approval or right to participate in any event does not give rise to any losses or damages at law, and I further acknowledge and agree that I shall not commence any action, application, or claim, or attempt to recover any such losses or damages.

Informed consent is essential and part of my right to self-determination. I choose to participate in the EQUUSOMA® training and related events voluntarily, knowingly, and intelligently, and I agree to all applicable policies, terms and conditions while a student in the program and/or when acting in a professional (paid or volunteer) capacity outside of any training or event.

I acknowledge that I have read this agreement in full, that I fully understand its terms and the risks associated therewith, that I agree to abide by the stipulations above, and that I have agreed voluntarily and freely without any inducement, assurance, guarantee or representation being made.
